The Sundown Lid: A Geodesic Hat

Fritz Haeg invited me to be part of a knitting event at his fancy geodesic dome home, so I made a hat based on the structure of his house. I figured that if Buckminster Fuller could design astounding architecture out of the humble triangle, the least I could do was bring some geometry into my knitting. The hat ended up looking like a space-age multicolored knit helmet, perfect for wearing wherever you might encounter triangles, and a great gift for that Bucky-obsessed person in your life.
