

CHILLING CARTOONS | FUELED BY KFC | SQUID FEAR & ECO-SHRINKS

SIERRA

Explore, Enjoy, and Protect the Planet

SHOOTING RAPIDS

Action photographers spill their secrets

FAT AND HAPPY IN ALASKA

A paddler matches appetites with eagles and grizzlies

VACATION'S OVER
... FOR GOOD?

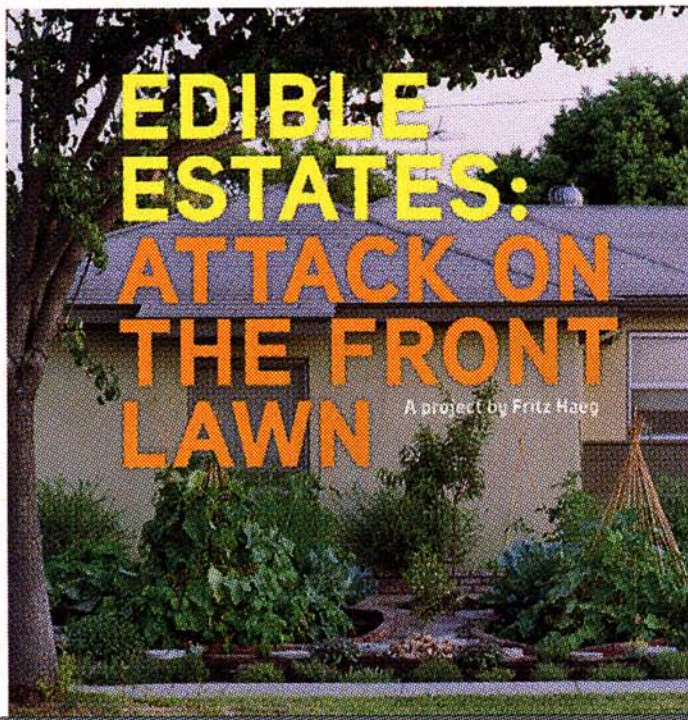

A GLOBAL-WARMING FABLE

THE REPORTER WHO
SURFS SCIENCE

$2.95/CANADA $3.50
MAY/JUNE 2008

THE MAGAZINE OF THE SIERRA CLUB

◀ LET'S TALK

Discuss this selection with your friends and neighbors. Learn how at sierraclub.org/sierra/letstalk.

▶ EDIBLE ESTATES

a book by Fritz Haeg

Starting in 2005, architect and designer Fritz Haeg commissioned families in California, New Jersey, and Kansas to rip out their lawns and grow vegetables in their front yards. Edible Estates is a treatise against grass, which at 30 million acres is the United States' largest irrigated crop. It also follows the suburban dissidents who dug under the inquisitive gaze of neighbors and found joy in curbside tomatoes.